ALBUQUERQUE PIONEER CALLED TO REST

JOHN A. CONLEY, WHO CAME IN '81, DIES AT AGE OF SEVENTY-FIVE.

Gradually the men who helped to found Albuquerque are passing away. Death is claiming them one by one. Yesterday afternoon another of the pioneers was added to the list of those who have been called to rest.

When John A. Conley passed away at the ripe old age of 75 years, Mr. Conley died as the result of a general breaking down of a once vigorous constitution, hastened by cancer of the stomach with all its complications.

Death came yesterday afternoon at 4:50 o'clock at the family home, 901 Williams street, with those of his family around him who reside here or who could answer the hasty summons.

Mr. Conley leaves, beside his wife, five children, three of whom reside in Albuquerque. John A. Conley, Jr., is a foreman in the Santa Fe shops, while a daughter, Mrs. Daisy Hitchcock, is the wife of the superintendent of the southern California division of the Santa Fe.

Mrs. Hitchcock has been notified of her father's death and is expected in Albuquerque this morning. The other children have been advised and it is probable that the funeral will be held Friday although final arrangements have not yet been announced.

Mr. Conley was born in Williamsport, West Virginia, 75 years ago. He learned the carpenter's trade and came west in the early days of Kansas where he found employment and prosperity. In 1881 he came to New Mexico and settled in what is now Albuquerque following his trade. He has made his home here ever since and has been one of Albuquerque's most substantial citizens. There is a host of friends among the older residents of the city who will learn of his death with deep regret.
